

SAINTS PETER and PAUL - June 29th, 2014

Happy Solemnity of Saints Peter and Paul, Apostles. We see beautifully in these Saints the unity and diversity of the Catholic Church. Saint Peter, the leader and head of the Apostles lives on in the Supreme Pontiff, Pope Francis. He is a sign of unity for the universal Church, important for us as Catholics to rally around, to pray for, and to follow as he sets the tone and guides our focus in matters of faith and morals.

Saint Paul, rooted in Christ, flowing from his conversion experience when he was knocked off of his horse and encountered Christ speaking to him, went forth to the Gentile peoples to spread the Gospel and draw them into a living relationship with Jesus Christ and His Church.

Hence we as Catholics today are united around the Vicar of Christ, the Pope, unified in mind and heart in the Catholic Faith, and we go forth as Saint Paul did into the culture in which we live as missionaries, bringing the Good News that Saint Paul preached, Jesus Christ has died for us, He is Risen, and He has ascended into Heaven where He intercedes for us and loves us and sends the Holy Spirit to dwell within us and to transform our hearts.

The Holy Father has helped re-inspire in me and I think in the Universal Catholic Church that we are missionaries by nature, and this applies to all of us as Catholics. Being a missionary is not just an appendage that we tack on to our faith practice, it is who we are, even at the grocery store, on the highway, at the airport, and at home!!
