From the desk of Father Barnes

And on the seventh day God finished his work which he had done, and he rested on the seventh day from all his work which he had done. So God blessed the seventh day and hallowed it, because on it God rested from all his work which he had done in creation (Genesis 2:2-3) (RSV).

Sunday mornings and Wednesday evenings have been encroached upon in a bad way. These used to be left open so that people could rest and pray on the Lord's Day and learn about the faith at religious education. No longer are they hallowed ground.

God makes the seventh day holy, and work during the other six days is ordered to worship. If this is lost, we run the risk of being slaves to labor while failing to recognize our complete dependence on God (Ignatius Study Bible, Genesis. P. 20).

The issue is not that sports or other activities are bad, not at all. The problem we have noticed is that sports are becoming so time-consuming and so important that religion is being pushed out. We participate in recreation to be re-created, to be renewed and refreshed. It seems that sports now are work, an effort to produce the next Tiger Woods or fill in the blank.

We have heard the saying, 'keep Christ in Christmas,' let's keep Christ in Sunday, for being a good steward of the Lord's Day is crucial in being a good steward!

God bless!

STEWARDSHIP COMMITMENT FORMS

By now all parishioners should have received their Stewardship letter and commitment form. We ask you to take some time to reflect on the gifts God has provided you and determine how you can share your gifts to serve others through our parish. Please return your completed form in the collection basket at Mass or by mail by October 20. The Stewardship Committee is encouraging all families to participate and will be following up with those who don't respond.

Joyful. Faithful. Successful.

DISCERNING A RELIGIOUS VOCATION

Did you know that of the roughly 10,000 American individuals discerning a religious vocation each year nearly 50% are prevented from pursuing their calling because of outstanding educational debt?

Michael Panka is a parishioner of Saint Nicholas and an applicant for the Saint Paul Seminary here in Saint Paul. Before he can enter seminary, he must first repay his student loans.

To do this, he needs your help. Between now and December, Michael is working with a local non-profit organization called The Labouré Society. Since 2003, with the generous support of faithful Catholics throughout the country, The Labouré Society has helped over 250 aspirants overcome the obstacle of educational debt and enter religious formation.

To find out more about The Labouré Society and how you can help Michael and his fellow aspirants answer the Lord's call, please visit www.labouresociety.org/michael.

*Please keep Michael and his fellow aspirants in your prayers!
God bless!*

EVERYDAY STEWARDSHIP

RECOGNIZE GOD IN YOUR ORDINARY MOMENTS

EVERYDAY STEWARDSHIP - RECOGNIZE GOD IN YOUR ORDINARY MOMENTS

Remember a time when jealousy or envy reared its ugly head and you wished you had something that someone else owned? Maybe it was a house, a car, a bank account, or even that luscious green lawn. All humans have had that feeling before and some of us more often than others. After the emotion hit you, hopefully you considered all the good gifts you did have in your life and gave thanks for them. Let's pray that you are still not hanging onto those feelings. Unfortunately, we do live in a world that seems to fuel those desires and push us toward wanting more and more.

But let's level the field here. Did you ever hear of someone who died and was able to take any of those things into the afterlife? The reality is that nothing we have in this life truly belongs to us. We come into this world with nothing and as time goes by more gifts are entrusted to us but we never truly own them. So whom do they belong to anyway?

Of course, you know the answer. All that we have has been entrusted to us by God; to be cherished, cultivated, and then given back to him for his glory. God doesn't need any of these things, and we only need them short-term. All that we need long-term is God. If he is all we need in the end, I bet our lives would be more fruitful and happier if we focused on that now instead of later.

WHY DO WE DO THAT?

CATHOLIC TRADITIONS EXPLAINED

Question:

My coworkers and I have been debating the death penalty and whether or not it should be part of our justice system. Why are so many people who claim to be pro-life believers in favor of it?

Answer:

The issues of crime and punishment are never easy because so many factors influence people and how they view problems and solutions. Increased violence, loss of life, cost to taxpayers and the community at large, and the maneuverings of lawyers and courts only add fuel to the fire. When bad things happen in your neighborhood or to your home or to you, you want relief. Any normal person would feel that way. A pro-life view does not insulate anyone from the bad effects of criminal behavior. Innocent people are hurt every day and it may seem as though those who cause the pain get away with it, or get off easy.

The death penalty is not excluded by Church teaching. The state has the right to impose penalties that are commensurate with the crime as well as to defend itself from further harm (Catechism of the Catholic Church, §2266). When possible, punishment should help correct the offender, offering a chance of redemption, which is why the pope and bishops have called for an end to the death penalty. For more information, visit the Human Life and Dignity section of the USCCB's website (www.usccb.org).

DISCERNING A DIACONATE VOCATION

My name is Matt Damiani and I am a second year candidate in the Diaconate Formation program. This was a call that I first heard many years ago when attending the priestly ordination of a friend of mine. It was not clear at first, but after years of prayer and discernment, I felt it was drawing me to the diaconate. I would encourage each of you to listen to what God is asking of you, no matter how small. He will always give you what you need if you just say "yes" to His Will. Please pray for me and my family during these formation years; you are in my prayers also.

LIVE THE LITURGY INSPIRATION FOR THE WEEK

Saying and doing are two very different things. Often, we say we are going to do the right thing but then we do not. We get distracted by a self-focused concern, apathy, fear, and a number of other excuses. The choice to act with virtue is always before us. The ability to choose is one of God's gifts. Fully living the Gospel means that we choose to "practice what we preach." Faith without action serves no purpose.

Jesus, I trust in You!

Our Parish School News

PRINCIPAL'S CORNER

Dear Holy Cross Families and Friends,
 As we enter our second month of the school year I'd like to take a moment to commend you and all of our students for a stellar start to the year. Our school culture truly is growing around what I see as our shared purpose: "Praise God, Work Hard, Love One Another", and I see these beautiful values reflected daily as I observe our students as they interact with teachers, with curricula, and with each other. Our faculty and staff serve as cardinal examples to our students of what it is to follow Christ, and I appreciate that so very much. What a blessing it is to be a part of this wonderful school community and to be with your children every day!

It certainly has been busy around Holy Cross of late! Our middle school students have already completed their first service project of cleaning the highway, and have experienced an amazing retreat put on by NET Ministries to help get the year off to a solid start. On Friday, the Marathon for Non-Public education was held right here on the Holy Cross campus, and the Golf Outing was held that same afternoon at CreeksBend Golf Course. Thank you to all who supported either or both of these important fund raisers for Holy Cross. Your kind generosity goes miles in both tuition assistance, and program development. We are blessed to have you be part of the Holy Cross community!

As we now move into October, our days turn cooler and trees turn to those beautiful shades of fall color. Let's all take time to take in the beauty of our earth, God's precious gift to us, his favorite of all he created.

In Him,

Constance L. Krocak, Ed.D.
 Principal
